Entrepreneurial Workshop: Making Private Investment Work for Health Sciences

June 25th 2013 | IMM

We are pleased to announce the Entrepreneurial Workshop: Making Private Investment Work for Health Sciences, to be held on June 25th 2013 at Instituto de Medicina Molecular, Lisbon.

This workshop is designed for health sciences entrepreneurs or would-be entrepreneurs looking for financing solutions and/or strategic advisory services for their business-oriented projects.

The concept of the workshop is to provide enterprising researchers or business owners with the opportunity to receive both general strategic guidance and personalized consultation in one-on-one sessions with a team of experts.

The meeting will include keynote lectures, a poster session and private (one-on-one) sessions. Six (6) slots are available for one-on-one meetings with the experts, on a first-come first-served basis.

Keynote speakers (please see attached detailed biosketches)

Larry Chaityn – Larry is an experienced investment banker specialized in life sciences, and lecturer at the Kauffman Foundation, the Propero/Healthcare Accelerator, and the New York Academy of Sciences. He will speak about the role of private equity in research and the expectations around investment.

Joana do Rosário – Joana is a biomedical researcher and entrepreneur with wide experience in strategic clinical research development, effective public-private partnerships and international multidisciplinary collaborations. She will speak about the transition from a lab scientist to a businessperson.
